Jordan, LL. D. Of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania George Reynolds, who holds an enviable reputation among the members of the legal profession, being considered one of the ablest attorneys now practicing at the bar in the city of Pittsburg, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, owes his entire success to his own unaided efforts and the ambition which dominated him. He is a member of an honored family of the state of Pennsylvania, but having had the misfortune to lose his father when he was but one month old he was early obliged to take an active part in the struggle for existence, and is in the fullest sense of the word a self-made man. George P. Reynolds, father of George E. Reynolds, was a resident of Northumberland county, Pennsylvania, and after his marriage settled upon a farm and was actively engaged in agriculture. He was also...
